Gary Churton

SHIRLEY JOHNSON

I'm known for my positive and cheerful personality, and these are the characteristics that first attracted me to coaching, and which I believe make my approach effective for the people I coach.

I love the way that coaching brings out the most resourceful, creative aspects of ourselves, enabling us to develop solutions more daring than we might have believed possible.

We continue to learn throughout our lives, so why not be playful or even daring with our thinking and make being challenged to achieve our goals, fun!

WHY COME TO ME FOR COACHING?

If everything in your life is just as you want it to be, you don't need coaching. If on the other hand you would like to develop specific goals in your personal or professional life, then let's have a chat!

I have a strong belief that together we can find a way to achieve your goals, in a way which is right for you.

COACHING QUALIFICATIONS & EXPERIENCE:

I am qualified at ILM Level 5, with a Certificate in Coaching and Mentoring in Management, awarded in June 2009. I am currently undertaking the ILM Level 7 Diploma in Executive Coaching, which I am due to complete in June 2017.

My professional background is in probation and youth justice, with roles from practitioner to senior manager.

My belief in the capacity of individuals to make positive changes in their lives is vital for both sides of my working life, as manager and coach.

My coaching experience ranges from colleagues on the front line of services to strategic leaders, with a wealth of interesting people in-between, and all with a wide variety of goals.
